Oh, folks. I was about half a minute away from posting this video of an awesome robotic exoskeleton made by some Okinawan students at some robotics institute. But then... then these came into my life:

JeanPants. Now, don't let the name confuse you, because they are not pants -- and neither are they jean shorts, actually. They are jean underpants. Jean underwear. Jeanderwear. Seriously, you're looking at a pair of denim underwear -- because apparently the denim look is all the rage in Japan this season, which means true fashionistas will have on jeanderwear underneath their actual jeans. That's amazing. What's more amazing? They're available here for a mere $61. You'd best order your pair now before Tobias Funke and the other "never-nudes" get them all.

You know what Rob? Between this and the already super-short uniform shorts Japanese kids are forced to wear to school (as seen here: <http://farm5.static.flickr.com...>), this is a child-molestation suit just WAITING to happen. DX

I did too. Sadly I had to picture leg hair and a happy trail before before it clicked that, yes, it is a dude wearing those. Still, the fact that the package on the man and the legless model are exactly the same have me thinking "suspicious package." >.>

$61 dollars for a cutoff simulacra? Seriously? I'd rather just get some skinny jeans and remove the legs.

Also, I thought of Martin Lawrence's thong-making advice from his classic film, Black Knight. "We'll just take an old pair of drawers and cut the ass out."

Of course I'm still around! I've been tumbling hardcore for the past few weeks. also with school ending and work..and I just wasn't feeling super clever and I ran out of booze..so I've been pretty light.

But school is pretty much over so..

Yeah, I see it chafing like a motherfucker... I also think it stretches the limits of credulity that the model is Japanese, but who knows. whoever it is either had a water balloon down his shorts, or is hung like a minor deity...
